Sock it to Sarcoma!

For some people with sarcoma, surgery may be their only option for treatment.

Depending on how aggressive and where the tumour is, a limb may need to be amputated - so perhaps only one sock will be needed!!!

Odd socks also represent the translocation of the chromosomes 11 and 22, often found in Ewing's Sarcoma.

Anyone wanting to show support for people diagnosed with sarcoma and Sock it to Sarcoma! can use an 'odd socks' theme to raise awareness or to raise funds.

Have an 'odd socks' competition - the most colourful odd socks, the wackiest or simply make a gold coin donation and help fund medical research into a rare and devastating cancer.
